1.0 Background

This terms of reference provides a planning framework for Lake St. Peter Provincial Park that will result in a park management plan that provides direction for the protection, resource management and development of the park for a 20-year period.

Lake St. Peter has been a popular camping destination since the 1950s, prior to its regulation as a provincial park (Figure 1). Since regulation under the Provincial Parks Act in 1971 this recreation class provincial park has continued to provide both camping and day use activities. The park is currently 478 ha in area, with the developed area of the park – including day use and campground areas – restricted to the original 25 ha in the most southern area of the park on a peninsula jutting into Lake St. Peter. The bulk of the park – 453 ha referred to as the McKenzie Lake addition – is woodland that was added through regulation in 1989, within which the only development is a 4.5 km hiking trail; sport hunting is permitted within this area of the park by regulation under the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act (1997).

An interim management statement was completed in 2002 to guide custodial management of the park until a management plan is completed. The park is located just off Highway 127, 40 km north of Bancroft and 30 km south of the east gate of Algonquin Park, in ecodistrict 5E-9 within Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) Bancroft District. Lake St. Peter is administered by the South Eastern Zone Office of Ontario Parks, and since 1997 has been operated by the Bancroft & District Chamber of Commerce under a private sector agreement with Ontario Parks. Detailed earth and life science inventory reports were being completed for Lake St. Peter at the time of writing of these terms of reference, as part of management planning.

Through the management planning process policies will be developed regarding park classification, goal and objectives, boundary, zoning, resource management, operations, and development.

Issues to be considered and addressed during this planning process will be identified by the planning team and through public consultation. Specific issues that have been identified to date include, in no particular order of importance:

- role of the park in the provincial parks and protected areas system
- park classification – currently recreation class
- policy direction for park operations
- zoning and management policies for the park, including the McKenzie Lake addition
- trails – activities and use of existing trails and potential for new trails
- permitted activities and management of these activities (e.g. sport hunting)
- resource management policies for significant species and invasive species
- campground management and development
- beach management
- interpretive messages and / or facilities

2.0 Planning Area

The planning area includes all areas regulated under the Provincial Parks Act as Lake St. Peter Provincial Park (478 ha).

Ontario Parks is committed to an ecosystem management approach during park planning and management. The greater ecosystem for Lake St. Peter Provincial Park could be defined as the watersheds of McKenzie Lake and Lake St. Peter. As part of this greater ecosystem approach, we recognize that the regulated park boundary is not a physical barrier separating the park from the surrounding landscape. Complementary land use approaches by owners of adjacent properties benefit the natural heritage features of the park and the greater ecosystem. Plans for park lands will be developed in consultation with First Nations and the public, including the park's neighbours, throughout the planning process. This approach is a cooperative and participatory one, and does not imply provincial control on private property rights. Ontario Parks would not consider acquiring private land unless property that would enhance the values of the park is offered for sale by willing vendors.
